rondo

Maybe a rondo is a song sandwich.

bread	part A
lettuce	part B
bread	part A chicken	part C
bread	part A
tomato	part D
bread	part A

Or, maybe a rondo is a song layer cake.
The part that gets repeated is like the cake.
The changing part is like different kinds of icing
inbetween the layers.

Or, maybe a rondo is just a round-a-bout song.

Up On the Husetop

United States
1860s holiday song
Benjamin R Hanby

Key D, first note A(so) a cappella count-in: 1,2,3,4,Up...

Up on the husetop rein-deer pause, Out jumps good old San - ta Claus!
Down thru the chim-ney with lots of toys, all for the lit-tle ones' Christ-mas joys chorus
Ho, ho, ho! Who wouldn't go? Ho, ho, ho! Who wouldn't go----?
Up on the house-top, click, click, click. Down thru the chim-ney with good Saint Nick!

2 First comes the stocking of little Nell,
Oh, dear Santa, fill it well
give her a dolly that laughs and cries,
One that will open and shut her eyes.
Ho, ho, ho...

3 Next comes the stocking of little Will,
Oh, just see what a glorious fill
Here is a ball and lots of blocks,
There's even a little train that talks.

Benjamin Hanby was born in Ohio in 1833. In his short life (he died at age 35) he worked as a teacher, principal, minister and editor for a music publishing house. He wrote over 60 songs. The house where he wrote most of the songs is now a museum in Westerville, Ohio.

C.C. Moore's poem "Twas the Night Before Christmas", written in 1822 became so well known that by the mid 1800s it was taken as the authority on how Santa made his visits. It certainly was the source for Benjamin Hanby who wrote "Up on the Husetop" in the 1860s. "Jolly Old St. Nicholas", whose authorship has never been pinned down, is also attributed by some to Hanby because of its similarity in style and content.
